PRIVACY INFORMATION

Protecting Your Privacy

We are committed to protecting your privacy, and the confidentiality and security of the personal information held or collected by the APS.

How we use your personal information

The personal information provided by you on this application form will be used:

- to assess your eligibility for membership;
- to update any personal information already held about you on our database;
- to provide successful applicants with access to and information about a range of current and future membership benefits; to provide the APS with data and statistics about its membership; and further information in an APS Members-only accessible version of the Membership Directory.

If you do not provide us with this personal information, we may not be able to process your application.

How we collect personal information

In addition to the information collected from you in this form, the APS may also seek personal information from publicly available sources, such as directories, or from other sources such as educational institutions, the Psychology Board of Australia or employers, for the purpose of verifying information provided to the APS.

When we disclose your personal information

We may at times disclose your personal information to organisations external to the APS where those organisations assist us to provide services to you. Information disclosed to external organisations is done on a limited basis and is provided with the agreement from those service providers that they will maintain the security of that information and use it only for the limited purpose for which it is disclosed.

Accuracy and Access

The APS strives to keep accurate records of the personal information we collect. You have a right to access your personal information held by the APS, subject to the exceptions listed in National Privacy Principle 6. If you would like to do so please contact the Privacy Officer as set out below. Your request will need to be put in writing for security and recording purposes.

Membership Directory

The APS Membership Directory is not a publicly searchable facility. Information included in the Directory may be provided upon request, as follows. For APS members:

- Your nominated contact phone number will be released to the public upon request. (If you do not wish to have your telephone number released to the public upon request, please write to membership@psychology.org.au.)
- If you hold one of the membership grades of Associate Member, Member, Fellow or Honorary Fellow of the APS, your title, name, contact phone number, state, organisation for which you work and APS membership grade will be included in the APS Members-only accessible version of the Membership Directory available through the APS website. If you do not wish to have some or all of these details appear in the Membership Directory, please write to membership@psychology.org.au.
- If you hold one of the membership grades of Member, Fellow or Honorary Fellow of the APS, your membership of APS Colleges will be included in the APS Members-only accessible version of the Membership Directory available through the APS website. If you do not wish to have your College membership appear in the Membership Directory, please write to membership@psychology.org.au.
- The APS may seek your consent to have the same details as those included in the Membership Directory made accessible to other allied health organizations for the purpose of increasing access by appropriately qualified professionals to psychologists for the purpose of making referrals.

Our Privacy Policy

For further information about the APS's privacy policy, refer to the APS website at psychology.org.au. Copies of the APS Privacy Policy may be downloaded from the website.
